

Some people say...

If we let one or just a few small numbers of people control all of the media what happens if this one person or small group of people are compromised and or blackmailed or paid off to regurgitate the news so that it would benefit a certain group of people.

And how would America ever even know if we were taken over if we do not have any checks and balances in place.

Or what if the media owners go crazy like the Enron CEOs? Are we supposed to just sit by and let this happen?

Is this not the same as the communism that are parents and their parents fought to protect our country and even help other countries from this happening to them? All so we can all make intelligent decisions to help steward our earth and our lives live in harmony.

Some people say that media control contributed already to two questionable elections and now the very possible starting of world war three. This is not a confidence builder for this new program idea. Do you have any stories that will help contradict this and give us hope? Why do we feel we need to have one person under control of all the media? If it is a good idea the American people will be happy to see this happen yet so far they are not.

At least the ones that know about it. And that is very difficult because this information is not in the news or found in any of the media. Which is also not a confidence builder and seems rather sly and bordering on the edge of evil doing... this is what the world is saying now.

It seems like if all this media takeover is a good idea the people would be happy about this and it would not be so quietly done behind our backs. But that is how the school teachers said it could happen without us even knowing that it happened until it is too late or almost too late and this looks almost too late. The politicians seem to be getting bolder and seem to care less as they bilk the people and countries and even raise their own pay and make the lowly workers suffer with minimum wage and left begging and let the media talk us into a war on false or mis-information and never even mention the last two questionable elections already. Does this not worry you that this is lining up all too neatly for evil doers to walk in and sit right down and start dictating their own whims and heck who would even know?

Remember what our grandparents used to say while you make your final decisions. "What someone does for us - they will do to us"

Are we supposed to simply trust oversized corporations and huge egos that are used to getting everything they ever wanted and may be too bored with life and our beginning to play us like a game of chess just for fun or just to see if they can do it. What happened to the evils of monopolies that our teachers taught us in school saying that they are bad and that once in place how easy they can take over a country? Do they not teach this any longer? Has that changed? Do we really think we are ready to trust a few individuals with all of our lives? Has this person that wants to own everything had a mental wellness exam? Don't people that are in position to create huge catastrophic changes in the world required to have some kinds of exams to prove their basic intentions for good or are we just supposed to go on the fact that if a human has made millions of dollars they must be sane? Is that the test?

If someone is this committed to creating a monopoly then does it not indicate that something even bigger is up and that the left shoe is about to fall?

Why does one person feel they have to own all of the media? How much money does one person need to be happy? If someone is not happy with millions or billions of dollars amassed already what makes them think that this would make them happy? Is the bilking of all Americans (and possibly the world) worth serving up to one person just to satisfy them? Is this morally alright? What makes it alright? Money? Money paid to us for someone to do this to all of us. Does this make sense? Do we still have any morals? Did we not learn something from Mr. Clinton's low moral choices? Or was that a media scam? Who knows anymore? Already we are questioning all of the media so how can we trust someone that is willing to put the world into some hidden dangers and asking us to put all of our apples in their basket. Especially when they are doing this almost like it is a hostile corporate takeover and that the little people (the rest of civilization) has no voice or kept in the dark about this or even asked an opinion? This also is not a confidence builder. What will they be like when they do not need us anymore because they have all of their hearts desire and we are expendable because they do not even need our money because they already have it.

Does enough money make it ok for us to sell out our children and children's children and grandchildren for many generations and all of the humans now that will be at the whim of oversized corporations, designed without a heart or a consciousness on purpose? How does this feel? Are we selling out because we think there will be no tomorrow. Well just a few months ago I would have agreed, but today there is now new hope on the rise. Yes America is waking up on a massive scale. Europe is waking up. We are all watching this. And we bless it as it shows us what happens when we are all sleep walking. For this we thank you.

But please now be happy with this new spiritual awakening and join us too. Let us begin again. It will even be greater this time and all will prosper and live abundantly together.

By the people for the people.

Don't cover up the facts. The FCC needs to make all relevant information available to the public -- including the local news study that was reportedly destroyed -- as part of its current media ownership proceeding. The FCC also needs to conduct a thorough investigation of how the local news study was suppressed and who was responsible. The results of that investigation should be released to the public immediately upon its completion. In addition, the FCC needs to adopt rules and procedures to prevent such important information from being kept from the public in the future.

I don't want the same company that owns my TV station or my radio station to also own my newspaper. I would just get the same news recycled for a different outlet.

I rely on my local media sources to find out about national and local issues. And I want to feel confident that I can get all the viewpoints I need to make well-reasoned decisions about these issues. I also want media outlets in my town to care about my needs and interests.

Thank you for your consideration of this important issue. I look forward to hearing from you about your efforts to ensure diversity, localism and independence in our media.
